Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 27 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain spreading across the country from the southwest.

This Evening and Tonight:
An area of rain will push in from the southwest across the country, bringing heavy outbreaks at times but easing later in the night. Turning windier, particularly along coastal areas, but remaining mild. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Thursday:
A damp start for some but soon turning dry through the morning. Often rather cloudy but spells of sunshine are still possible. Further rain likely during the evening. Feeling mild. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
A wet and windy start on Friday, drier later. A risk of rain in the south on Saturday, otherwise dry. Frosty to start on Sunday, with rain and snow later.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.